

1

StructView Estate

Solutions supporting the process of presentation and sale of residential and commercial properties.

The real estate market is constantly changing. The customer profile as well as a purchasing model are different from previous years and therefore require a flexible and effective tool for marketing and sales.

StructView ESTATE offers a new approach to one of the most popular forms of investment presentation – the architectural model. Our interactive, three-dimensional model will efficiently present all the advantages of your property: from its surroundings, unique architecture and functionality through interior design – to fine finishing details. It replaces visualizations and traditional architectural plans that are confusing to the potential client and provides a comprehensible and realistic feeling of a given space. It allows you to effectively work with clients from all over the world, while reducing your operating costs.

2

Product for investors, developers and real estate agents.

Visualization of investment and its surroundings.

Interactive 3D model displays any information related to the offer, at a specified level of detail.

2D / 3D views

Presentation of floor plans and sections of buildings, provided with descriptions and dimensions. Automatic generation of unit presentation cards.

Interior design

Clients dynamically change the arrangement of a selected interior and have a go at designing a turnkey apartment.

Sale mechanisms support

Presentation of apartment availability, integrated with existing CRM and BI.

Virtual tour

Presentation of the whole investment or its selected parts in the form of a virtual walk.

Desktop Manager

Fast analysis of the sales process; offers management.